

THE CARL L. BECKER HOUSE WELCOMES

Ian Condry

VISITING NOVEMBER 14TH

JAPANESE

Ian Condry is part of the MIT faculty as an Assistant Professor of Japanese cultural studies in the Foreign Languages and Literatures section. Condry received the BA in Government from Harvard University in 1987 and the PhD in Cultural Anthropology from Yale University in 1999.

HIP HOP

Condry specializes in cultural anthropology, with a focus on popular culture, media, language, and globalization. Condry is currently working on a book about Japanese hip-hop as a case study for exploring the cultural politics of globalization, media, race, and ethnicity in popular music.

