

Rogaia Mustafa Abusharaf

February 10th - 12th, 2008

Rogaia Abusharaf is the director of the Pembroke Center's research initiative on Gender and "Traditional" Muslim Practices. She is a Sudanese anthropologist whose primary fields of interest are security, human rights protection and the cultural strategies adopted by displaced women to cope with the trauma of violence and dislocation. Dr. Abusharaf's work has received support from the Guggenheim and Rockefeller Foundations, as well as the Andrew Mellon & MIT Center for International Studies.

